Drummore is the most southerly village in Scotland, a quiet coastal village with a shop & post office, primary school, church, doctor's surgery (Mull of Galloway Medical Practice), café and two hotels with restaurants, a bowling club and direct access to the beach. Fishing boats still go out from the harbour and leisure boats frequent Luce Bay. DESCRIPTION

Slockmill Farmhouse is a traditional Galloway farmhouse and was previously the family home for Slockmill Farm. Over time the land has been sold off and the property was converted to a holiday let, and in recent years the adjoining cheese loft has been extensively renovated and refurbished to form an additional one bedroom residential dwelling. The current owners live in the Cheese Loft and let out the farmhouse, however this could be reversed, or the Cheese Loft could be used as extra living space to provide additional accommodation for multi-generational living.

Slockmill Farmhouse is well proportioned throughout with stunning coastal views from the sitting room and three of the four bedrooms.

The entrance vestibule opens to a kitchen/utility room, with an electric hob and oven, in addition there is an Aga in the dining room adjacent, providing additional cooking facilities and extra warmth. The spacious sitting room benefits from an open fire and has two windows overlooking the garden and coastline beyond. A small vestibule opens to the garden and patio to the rear of the property. The master bedroom, on the ground floor, has an en-suite bathroom with a separate bath and shower. Three bedrooms all with panoramic views, and a WC complete the first floor offering. The property sits under a recently renewed slate roof (2022), and central heating is powered by a Worcester Greenstar heatslave combi boiler, housed in the kitchen.

The outside area includes a hot tub shelter and hot tub, situated in the garden adjacent to the patio and a detached garage.

The Cheese Loft has been completely refurbished throughout to form a cosy one bedroom accommodation, benefitting from renewable energy provided by 4kw solar panels situated on the new roof with 9.8kw storage batteries, housed in the cloakroom. This provides electricity to both the Cheese Loft and farmhouse. The triple aspect open plan kitchen/dining/living area has a multi-fuel stove allowing the living area to be just that, a space to sit and relax with extra warmth if required, there is also a door opening out directly to the patio. The kitchen has an integrated slim line dishwasher, fridge, electric oven and gas hob (LPG), and ample room for a dining table and chairs. The first floor en-suite bedroom is flooded with natural light from two velux windows, and a side door opens to a Juliette balcony. Storage space is provided with a spacious fitted wardrobe and additional storage space has been added in cupboards below the coomb ceiling (under the eaves). Part of the garden has been designated to the Cheese Loft, please refer to the site plan.

Both properties offer a variety of options for a new life in the country, whether it involves holiday letting, multi-generational living or simply a family home with space to adapt to a buyers specific needs. A home that offers no end of desirable attributes of continued appeal to buyers in a unique geographical location.

A servitude right of access exists for Slockmill Farm and Cottage.
