SITUATION

3 Carlung House is a charming, spacious and well-presented first floor apartment in Carlung House, nestled within a fabulous woodland setting at Carlung Estate. Located about 1 mile north west of the picturesque town of West Kilbride (Scotland's only Craft Town), hosting a wide range of amenities including local primary school, doctors surgery, sports facilities including tennis club and The Seamill Hydro with leisure club and swimming pool. The Barony Centre, set within a restored church is home to a café, gallery shop and craft exhibition centre. West Kilbride has a main line railway station to Glasgow with regular connections, and the A737 allows road access to Glasgow Airport and the M8. There is an abundance of countryside walks in and around West Kilbride including the Ayrshire Coastal Path which leads along the shoreline from West Kilbride to Portencross together with beautiful sandy beaches which have superb views of the Firth of Clyde and coastline to Arran and there are fabulous views from Law Hill. Portencross (about 2 miles west) is a small hamlet with a harbour, castle and pier with lovely views over the Firth of Clyde and many seabirds including Black Guillemot, Oystercatchers and Cormorants can be seen. The Firth of Clyde offers some of the most scenic coastal sailing in the country and there are marinas and chandlery services at Largs and Inverkip.

DESCRIPTION

Located on the first floor of Carlung House, an imposing B Listed mansion house, No. 3 Carlung stands in an enviable location in a private parkland setting. The property comprises kitchen/diner, living room, master bedroom, shower room (also connected to the master bedroom), second bedroom and utility area.

The original Carlung House was destroyed by fire in 1902 and a completely new and much larger Elizabethian Manorial House was built in 1930-32. The house was built by James Austen Laird for his uncle, Robert Barr, a shipping and whisky magnate. During the late 1970s, the house was converted into five apartments. Constructed of red Northumberland stone with sandstone dressings, it retains many original features including Austrian oak panelling and lead lined windows and over the entrance door is a carved Viking ship. The private parkland gardens include some fine specimen conifers and rhododendrons.
